IRON FENCING. I R O N ForCemeteries and Yards. pears Again.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—For some weeks past three mysteriously-acting men have each morning gathered in a basement in board of trade alley and spent the day experimenting. They would get together around a box, and one of them giving it a whirl, the other two would say "wheat up," or "wheat down." Then would follow a consultation. The mysterious meetings have occurred day after day. The box has been whirled and whirled, "wheat up" and "wheat down" have been shouted some millions of times. There have followed little consultations until all records of these has been lost. The mysterions trimavirate was set down as conspirators-Irish Invincibles. But they were too well dressed. They acted like thieves; but, aside from the whirlings which took place and then the consultations, there was nothing to cause suspicion. They acted something like lard experts, but they made no analysis. The trio, in fact, were Morris Martin, whilom bunko-mane; C. L. Campbell, a horse-trader, and Jim Wolcott, a board of trade member, for the nonce down in the shoes. They were simply inventing a new game. Tuesday, at Springfield, the trio took out incorporation papers for the Phenix Grain and Stock Exchange, with a capital stock of $300,000. It is the first time on record that gamblers ever had the hardihood to go to Springfield and bland-ly ask for letter of incorporation for a

The Phonix Grain and Stock Exchange is not to be a bucket-shop, as one naturally, from its name, would be led to believe. It is to be a gambling saloon, wherein Martin's new game is to be played. The new game, it is said, beats faro or roulette; it even goes ahead of craps. It is really a species of clinck-a-litek. The name of the concern, the letters of incorporation, the pretended $300,(0) capital, are blinds.

They are clever dodges to avert police es-pisna e. The lay-out is simple. There is n box. In it are placed cards upon which are printed the words "pork," "wheat," "oats," and "carn." The box is whirled. There are two places whore the eards can lodge. If wheat flies up, the fellow who

"speculated" on the "bull" side of wheat wins his money; if the wheat card drops down, the "bear" "speculator" takes the money. It is, in street parlance, a great fake. Murtin always was a slick one. He was clever enough, when in partner-ship with Mike McDonald, to it takes a far higher order of talent to inaugurate a new game of chance than to operate with the old ones. Martin when he opens his new "chance shop" will not have a card around the place. There will be no betting on color, nor "eaqper-ing" of kings or queens; nor any lay-outs; nor any green tables. There will not be mny chips, either. The windows will be wide open, and there will not be any heavy doors with colored men or guard. Business will be opened up in the basement in board of trade alley where the extensive pool-room was. There will be a huge gilt and black sign as follows: "Phenix Grain and Stock Exchange" There will be the box, of course, and the little pastloards with the " wheat,"

"pork," "corn," and "lard" printed upon them. There will be a man to do the whirling, to be sure, and a man to scoop in the money, but none of the horrid featnres of a gambling hell. All gamblers' alley is in a ferment over the new shop.

The sports from one end to the other of the city are amazed at the simplicity of the scheme, and are endgeling themselves that instead of "heeling" the police, they did not think of Martin's fake.

Meanwhile the three incorporators are pushing things for their opening next week. The city is being flooding with paper. The little pastboard eards are being prepared by the hundred thousand.

The room is being filled with benches and other furniture. Martin is likely to go down in history along with Paker Schenck and the French monarch who discovered had a short stick in its hand, with which it was giving frequent light taps on the ground in front of it. Mrs. Smith sup-turtle which had been seen about the vard childish mirth for son time she walked toward them to see what they were doing with the turtle. When she approached within a few feet of them, she was horrified to see that the children were ninusing themselves with a large rattlesnake. For a moment she was speechless and motionless. The snake lay at full length, apparently enjoying the caresses and attention of the children. At each touch of the stick the snake would simply ruise its head, open its mouth, and dart its tongue in and out several times. It was this that made the children laugh. Re-

WHERE IS SHE?

Inquiry For Hattle Jane Powell, Who

Left Rochester Suddenly. TROY, Sept. 2.—Superintendent Quigley

has received the following interesting epistle: "One hundred dollars reward will be paid to a relative or stranger who is the tirst to inform me of the abode of Mrs. Hattie Jane Powell. She left Rochester, N. Y., August 23, not very well and very weak, and almost broken-hearted. She left a letter stating that she would never go near or write to any of her friends. The ernel letter which she reecived on that day, and which was the sole cause of her great trouble and untold auguish, came from an unknown enemy and not from the person she supposed. The letter was probably a good imitation, and since she left it has been proved that it was wholly untrue and a base forgery. Mrs. Powell is responsible, and I am sure she would rather lose $10,000 than not to receive the foregoing information. This is sent to her friends, relatives and others to get their assistance, that this information may be telegraphed to her the moment any one get word from her. For the assistance of strangers I will say that she is a nent little lady, twenty-four years old, dark hair and eyes, about four feet six inches high, and had two large trunks with her. I would like the following personal advertisement published in newspapers, and the editor of the newspaper in which Mrs. Powel first reads said advertisement will be paid $100 cash. She may now be nervously prostrated from excitement and attended by a physician, and I am sure she will be as anxious to get this information as we are to give it. Address a letter and telegram to her and also to me, Mrs. Jennie Daniels, 488 West Fayette street, Syracuse." The The following is a copy of the only "personal" to be published, to-wit: "Dear llattie—That letter which made you feel so bad was a forgery, and was never sent by the person you supposed. Jennie Daniels, Syraeuse, N. Y."

A SAD CASE.

A Rugged Ten-Year-Old Walf Tries to

New York, Sept. 2.—Little Johnnie Cullen, a simple-minded child, about ten years old, weary, ragged and dirty, was found recently looking longingly into the play-ground of the Kings County Truants' flome in Cypress Hilfs. He told Superintendent Waguer that he was un orphau, but he did not know where he had lived. Mary Mack, his auat, had given him 3 cents in the morning, he said, and told him to walk to the poor-house. Superintendent Wagner, after giving him a meal and sending him to the play-ground, communicated with the New Lots police to enlist their aid in searching for the relatives of the boy. White the messenger was absent on his mission, Johnnie, although too young to know what snicide means, apparently tried to hang himself. He fastened the semp rope about his neck, and was swinging clear of the ground when the Superintendent, hearing the other children scream, ranto the place. The child was black in the face from suffocation when ent down. He was turned over to the officer who had been sent to investigate his case, and the Society for the Prevention of Crnelty to Children was notified. In the meantime he was sent to Raymond Street Jail. If his folks are not found he will be committed to the House of Refuge.

WONDERFUL SKULL.

Too Hard for Pistol Balls to Penetrate.

How John A. Moran Attempted to Commit Suicide and Falled-The Diamond-Shaped Scar He Will Carry for Life and How He Got It-A Remarkable Case.

New Haven, Sept. 2.—John A. Moran, of Norwich, shot himself four times in the head in his room at the Tremont House. The pistal was held close to his forehead, but being of small calibre the balls failed to penetrate to the brain, and the would-be suicide will probably recover. The thickness of his skull in flattening bullets fired at close range is pronounced phenomenal. Should the young man recover, he will carry through life, in the very centre of his forehead, a diamond-shaped mark. Two of the balls entered the forehead just above the nose in a straight line an inch and a half mart. The two other bullets lodged about an inch apart, laterally, the four forming a mathematically perfect diamond. The motives for the attempted self-destruction are not apparent, and icuporary insanity is the only theory assigned. Morau, it appears, has for the past three years been in the enaploy of the hat firm of Weldon, Stark & Gallagher, of Norwich. Previous to that he served as stewand on the steamer City of Worcester. He intended entering into the hat basiness for himself at New Haven, and his nucle, Walter Durkin, furnished him with funds. In company with a friend, Henry G. Weldon, of Norwich, Moran came to the city and stopped at the Tremont House. A place at No. 202 Chapel street was rented, the stock purchased and paid for and arrangements to begin business consummated. Moran and Weldon occupied a room at the hotel together and retired about 9 o'clock after drinking a glass of lemonade. Weldon arose first and noticed nothing wrong about his room mate.

Moral walked one after breakfast, returning about 9 o'clock and going to his room. Here he removed the sheets from the bed, evidently anot wishing to be-spatter them with blood. The first shot fired brought the colored hotel porter into the room of the would-be snieide. This intelligent individual stood a moment at the door watching Moran, who was sitting up in bed firing bullets at his head. The porter, then, slamming the door, rushed off to the police station and returned with Detective Reilly. As the officer entered the room Moran was found in the act of taking a razor from the valise with the evident intention of cutting his throat. Reilly disarmed him. The wounded man was laid on the floor and physicians summoned. He was perfectly conscious and seemed not greatly incommoded by the bullets in his head. He remained conscious and requested the attendance of l'ather Coleman, of the Sacred Heart Charch, to whom he made his spiritua confession. An ambulance was summoned and the woun led man taken to the hospital. Moran's effects and two rolls of bank notes of large denominations were taken charge of by Chief of Police Webster. The valise contained well made clothing, and the general clothing worn by the patient was of good material.

Moran is spoken of as a most exemplary young man, with no bad habits and of an equable temperament. He is about twenty-five years old and was born at Camden, N. J., where his parents live. He has brothers in Norwich. He had been stopping at the Tremont House since Monday and attracted no attention by peculiarity of manner. His proceedings in connection with the store he was fitting up were said by those interested to have been characterized by tact and good business judgment. It is conjectured that he became nervouss over the uncertainty of his new commercial venture here and his mind suddenly became unhinged. He is described as a tall, well-made young man, pleasant spoken and in excellent health. It is believed that he will re-

A Country Postmaster Silently Steals

Columnia, S. C., Sept. 2.-John T. Price, of Pickens County, who has heretofore stood well in that community, has left for parts unknown. He was Postmister at Price's post-office, in that county, and hired an assistant to run the office while he was at the county seat studying law, and holding the offices of Warden, Clerk and Treasurer of the Town Council. Price kept the Post office books at Pickens Court-house, ordered all stamps, postal-cards and en-velopes for the office, and made returns in his own name. The office is a smull country Post Office, where the stamps canceled during the quarter could not legitimately amount to $10. As his pay depended on the number of stamps enneeled, Price would order them in large quantities, about $150 worth in three months, sell them at a reduced price, pocket his 60 per cent and report the number of stamps canceled. He carred on an extensive trade in postage stamps, and made a handsome thing out of it. He wore plenty of fine jewelry and dealt in blockade whisky. He also robbed the Town Treasury of tax collections. It is said that through his influence three other Post Offices were established in Pickens county which he manipulated in a similar way. A Post Office detactive has gone to the scene of Price's BRUTAL MCNAMARA.

Another Murder Ry a New York Pellceman.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2 .- A terrible case of police brutality has just occurred in this city. John Smith, a deck hand on the schooner Ellen Hasbrook, now lying at her dock in Philadelphia, was brutally elubbed to death by Officer McNamara, of the Mulberry street police station, at the corner of Canal and Mulberry streets. Smith had been visiting the second mate of the same vessel. When they parted Smith was the worse for liquor. He started for his home, at the corner of Sixty-third street and Third avenue. He had not gone far when he entered the doorway of 121 Mulberry street and fell asleep. Mrs. Hughes, who resides in the house, called Officer McNamara to get the man out. The officer entered the hall way and began to club Smith in the most brutal manner. Smith got up and pro-ceeded up the street, followed by the of-ficer, who kept clubbing him about the back and arms. Smith remonstrated with the officer, who became greatly excited, and on reaching Canal street, struck the nnfortunate sailor two blows with his club. Smith fell dead on the sidewalk. A stretcher was sent for and the dead sailor was removed to the station-house, where the officers reported him sick, and, as in all such cases, he was treated with indifference. The excitement in the neighborhood became so great, and such a demon-stration was made by the crowd that the body of Smith was finally examined, and then it was learned that he had been badly bruised and his neck broken. Several respectable citizens called at the stationhouse and left their names as witnesses. McNamara was arrested at a late hour and will be held to await the result of the coroner's inquiry.

SPECULATING ON DEATH.

A Flagrant Case of Graveyard Insurance at Shenandonh.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., Sept. 2.—An old lady named Coughlin, residing near town, has just been buried here. Her death and burial aroused much public interest from the fact that it proved graveyard insur-ance to be still flourishing in this section. No sooner had her death become known than expectant beneficiaries flocked about her residence like buzzards to a feast. It was a part of the contract with those who speculated on the life of the old woman that after her death they were to furnish her with a stylish funeral. The "sharks" were five in number, and they had some difficulty in apportioning to each his share of the interment work and expenses. They could not agree readily on the limit of expenses to be incurred. One party wanted one kind of a coilin, shrond, etc., while another desired something different and finer. So spirited was the discussion that a fracas in the dead's toresence was at one time imminent. Matters were finally arranged in a common pool, and the deceased dame given a burial wholly out of keeping with her circumstances in life. A magnificent casket enclosed her remains; hearse and mourners were decked in full monroing array, while all who wished to mourn could have an equipage. The insurance on her life aggregated $1,200. One policy for $1,000 was held by a local undertaker, who joirchased it a week previous from the original owner for $50, while the latter was on a drunken spree. The seller was furious when he heard of the death.

BRUTAL MURDER.

A Negro Assussinuted for No Reason Wintever.

WARRENTGWN, GA., Sept. 2.-While Mrs. W. Felts was shaking fruit from a tree, Peter Brounfield (colored) asked her to be careful that she did not break off any brunches. The lady lost her temper, and made complaint to her husband. While Broomfield was ut work roofing a house, in company with three other men, Felts apneared at the foot of the ladder with a double-barreled shotgun. Broomfield comprehended the situation and pleaded for mercy. Felts said: "If you will come down and let me tlag you that will be the end of it. If you don't I will kill you." Broomfield's terrified companions niged him him take a flogging and save his life. As Broomfield commenced the descent of ladder, Felts, without saying a word, fired both barrels of his gun and two balls from a revolver into his body. Broomfield fell to the ground, face apward, a corpse. Felts walked to where the body lay, and with a curse, fired three bullets from a pistol into the dead man's brenst. Then turning to the terrified spectators, Felts said: "Three, I guess that fixed him," and walked away, since which he has not been seen. The negroes are intensely excited, and say if they capture Felts they will burn him alive to a stake in the woods. Broomfield was an inotlensive negro and well liked. Felts is twenty-seven years old and a member of an aristocratic family.

John Edwards and George Smith, of Cincinnati, the former representing himself as residing at Central avenue and Court street, J. S. Hayes and James King, the latter of Greensburg, Ind., have been arrested on the Fair Ground here. All are charged with being pickpockets. King and Edwards had pistols on their persons, and additional charges of carrying concealed weapons were placed against them. A number of persons attending the fair lost their pocketbooks; one Mrs. A. J. Campbell, recognized as her own, a pocketbook taken from one of the prisoners. All of the men came here on the excursion train from Cincinnati. When arrested the men were all in one corner of the ground, where, it is asserted, they were dividing money. Several empty pocketbooks were found outside the Fair Ground fence. Edwards snys his father is a horse trader of

To pay the pleasant summer vacation comes to a close, and the whining younkers trudge unwillingly to school. As they grow in years, however, they will regret the lost or neglected opportunities of their youth; since among adults, it is only the ignorant, the prejudiced, the hopelessly stupid that despise the knowledge and the mental discipline, that are derived from books. In this enlightened country, where a career is open to the humblest, there is no assured success without the culture of the schools; and the competitions of life are daily becomenergy, are likewise armed with all the duct, used in no other remedy. resources of modern knowledge. Do not despise books. They embody the concentrated experience of the past. Other things being equal, more can be accomplished with book knowledge than without it. But will it help us to make money? Perhaps some pragmatical village Plutus will say "No"-because, in spite of his own defective education, he has managed to heap together, by hard plodding and close saving, a few thousands of filthy lucie. But let us not forget that the greatest money makers of our time were carefully educated men. Mr. A. T. Stewart, the famous "merchant prince," to the latest hour of his life, annused his leisure with the Latin classics; and Jay Gould, the most brilliant and successful of American financiers, found his evening recreation in teaching the dead languages to his sous. It is well known that the Rothschilds are distinguished for their accomplish-social life. It is too late in the day—in this latter half of the 19th century-to sneer at the so-called "book larnin." Make this dead knowledge of the "books" live again by your intelligent application of it, and money will flow into your coffers in inexhaustible streams. The petty hoarder feels every day of his life that his ignorance is a bar to his financial success. Does he wish to invest in mining operations? He knows nothing of the conditions which insure success in an undertaking that must utilize the latest discoveries of science an art. Does he wish to "realize" on an investment in electric light? The same objections will again arise. In fact, scarcely an industrial enterprise can be named which does not demand at least a slight acquaintance with the elements of physical science-modern chemistry, for example, entering into industrial processes of every sort, from the freezing of ice to lady should have one. the baking of breal.

Success on the Stage.

Nat. Goodwin writes the Spirit: " have had no time to struggle with grammar and join McCullough and the other great tragedians in the North American beginner I should ndvise one of two things: First-he may join a good old stock company, if he can find one in the of it for about forty years. By that time he will have so worked himself up as to receive a living salary, support stars, and he prepared for a testimonial on his fittieth anniversary, whacking up with the manager, of course. This reward of merit virtually amounts to a half clear benefit every fifty years. If very healthy and successful, an actor may caich two of them and die. Second -if the beginner does not fancy that way, he can join some variety show; purchase a sparkling comic song from some good writer; have it set to mu-ic; Don'dd or McClosky to write a plot around the sonz, and he will be engaged for a forty weeks' season, and maybe never own that success was easy. I find that all the really great actors, who have fond of referring to their days and nights of toil and struggle, and or hinting bow very hard they work now. I have had those toils and struggles and hard work myself; but it was generally after the performance was over, and I might better have been in home in bed. The midnight oil theory is beautiful; but I never saw it in practice-did you? It is so easy to sindy and struggle when you feel the Bank of California at your back. I believe that an actor should study act ing; attend to his business like other people; enjoy himself like other people, and, when he draws a prize in the lot tery of the profession, thank Heaven for it, endeavor to deserve it, and keep quiet about the price of midnight oil, and his wrestles with the wick. The Review may copy, if you please.

HALL'S Vegetable Sicilian HAIR RENEWER

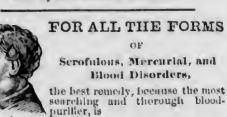

was the first preparation perfectly adapted to cure diseases of the scalp, and the first successful restorer of faded or gray hair to its natural color, growth, and youthful beauty. It has had many lmitators, but none have so fully met all the requirements needful for the proper treatment of the hair and scalp. HALL'S HAIR RENEWER has steadily grown in favor, and spread its fame and usefulness to every quarter of the globe. Its unparalleled success can be attributed to but one cause: the entire fulfilment of its promises.

The proprietors have often been surprised at the receipt of orders from remate countries, where they had never made an effort for its introduction. The use for a short time of HALL's HAIR RENEWER wonderfully improves the personal oppearance. It cleanses the scalp from all lmjoirlties, cures all limnors, fever, and dryness, and thus prevents baldness. It sthuulates the weakened glands, and enables them to push forward a new and vigorous growth. The effects of this article are not transient, like those of alcoholle preparations, but remain a long time, which makes its use a matter of economy.

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE WHISKERS

PERSECUTION.

Outrageous Conduct of a Certain Policeman.

How He "Got Even" with a Girl who Would Not Marry Him-Arresting a Mere Child as an Habitual Drunkard and Sending Him to the House of Correction, St. PAUL, Sept. 2.—Harry Braceland, a boy fourteen years of age, committed to the House of Correction as an habitual drunkard, discharged, it having been proven that the lad had been made the victim of a policeman's malice, who desired to gratify his vengeance against a family against which he entertained a grudge of long standing.

Mrs. Braceland is the mother of four children now living, one of whom is a eomely lady of eighteen years, and another, the hov. Officer Dougheriy early in the summer began paying attention to the young lady, but his courtship was coldly received. He persisted, and was finally severely repulsed. To celebrate this event he arrested the boy and preferred against him the charge of using abusive language. A few days later the same guardian of the peace arrested young Braceland for having in his possession an old washboard which had been left in a cellar on South street by a family which had removed from the premises. At the instance of Dougherty the youth was committed for trial on the charge of larceny. The daughter of Mrs. Braceland presented the facts of the ease to District Attorney Graham, and that official at once had the bill sent before the grand jury and igpored.

In order to escape the annoyance of the officer Mrs. Braceland removed to a distant part of the city. But she could not get beyond the reach of her persecutor, and after many petty devices to harass the family had been exhausted, the arrest of the boy was finally accomplished for the third time within two months.

Mrs. Braceland explains that her son Harry rises at a very early hour in the morning and generally retires at an early hour. On August 19 the boy while sitting on the step in front of his home fell asleep and was found in that condition by Officer Dougherty and at once taken to the station house, where he was imprisoned on a charge of drunkenness. The following morning Odicer Dougherty testified that Braceland was an habitual drunkard and he was sentenced to the House of Correction for six months. It was several days before his mother discovered his whereabouts. The mother never knew or heard of her son drinking any intexicating liquors.

CAUSE OF EGYPT'S PLAGUE. Bodies of Diseased Cattle in the Sources of the Drinking Water.

Heap, at Constitutinople, in a letter just received by the State Department, gives a detailed account of the cholera in Egypt smokers' applies.

Proprietor of the celebrated brands: Hold the Fort, Perfor Queen and Mother Hubbard. Best clears in the purket. Full variety of smokers' applies. detailed account of the cholera in Egypt, in which it is shown that the number of deaths occurring from June 24 to July 25 was 2932. The outbreak of the cholera is accounted for by the condition of the towns. Before the epidemic appeared a cattle plague of extreme virulence had been raging, and such of the infected animals as were not slaughtered for food died, and after being skinned their careases were thrown into the rivers and canals whence all the drluking water is drawn. In some places carcases were tied to the banks of the river to attract fish, which fed on putrid llesh, and then were caught and sold for food. "This," says the consul, "seems to have been done to breed and propagate cholera, and it is quite useless to seek its origin in India. The wonder is not that there is cholera in Egypt, but that the mortality is not much greater than reported. Since the military cordons have been established around infeeted places, either through ignorance or malevolence, they not only do not allow any one to jeass out, but they allow nothing to pass in, not even provisions or medicines, Meanwhile the dwellers in the stricken places are without either. They prefer to risk the chances of cholera by eating the careases of diseased animals rather than starve to death."

GOVERNMENT TELEGRAPHS. What Judge Lawrence Says About Them.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Judge Lawrence, the First Comptroller of the Treasury, who is considered an authority on Government matters, says that in his opinion the great effort to be made in the next Congress is not so much to establish a system of postal telegraph as to reduce and regulate the charges of existing to graph companies. His attention having been called to the arguments broached that such an interference on the part of the Government would be unconstitutional, he says that such talk is arrant nonsense, and that the Government has a perfect right to establish a uniform system of telegraphic rates, and he has no doubt they will succeed in doing so or else will build an entirely new line. Postmaster-General Gresham will probably recommend in his annual report at the December session that the Government shall establish a postal telegraph baying all existing telegraph systems at their actual value or else duplicating them at cost. He is looking into the matter now with a view to information. Postmaster General Howe recommended the establishment of a Government postal telegraph in strong terms last year.

A Naphtha Locamotive. HARTFORD, CONN., Sept. 2.—The naphtha-burning locomotive recently ordered by the officers of the Consolidated road for trial upon the Connectient Valley road has arrived from New Jersey. In its general appearance it does not differ from the coal-burning locomotive. In the application of force it is said to furnish a gain of thirty per cent. over the coal-consuming engines. The present locomotive is one of the first of the kind to be put into actual use, and should it prove successful the Consolidated rood will probably purchase it and perhaps others.
